Comments: Complete this project over the dead bodies of the good people of this earth. Go ahead and spend your billions of dollars. The first major accident involving your nuclear power will shut you down for good and cause you to justly lose it all. Nuclear power will be stopped; there is no question about it. It's only a matter of time before good people are aware of what you are doing, and they won't stand for it. We can only hope you won't be taking us all out with you when that big accident occurs. This is evil down to its very core; force feeding this scheme down everyone's throats. I hope you're proud to be part of it now because you will be ashamed in the end. I wash my hands of your deeds.
